Empowering Educators and Enriching Communities

WGU's School of Education is the largest nonprofit, competency-based degree conferrer of educators in the country. We provide programs that serve educators and other professionals across the P-12 education sector. Our licensure preparation programs are grounded in evidence-based practices and research, offer experiential learning with multiple opportunities for authentic learning in clinical and preclinical settings, and build exceptional knowledge of the art and science of teaching. In fact, WGU has more than 120,000 educator alumni working across the nation, making a positive impact on their students and in their communities.
